PREFATORY NOTE

It is difficult within the limited size of this monograph to cover in detail the vast areas embraced in the present great conflict. Efforts, however, have been made to describe the most recent maps and atlases, which have been published from 1914 to 1917. Some few, which are of interest and authoritative, previous to these years, have been included.

Attention may be called to maps bearing on various specific locations, published by the United States and foreign governments; as for example, those by the Hydrographic Office, the Geological Survey, and the Coast and Geodetic Survey; the Canadian Survey, the British Admiralty charts, the Hungarian Government map, published at Budapest, 1898–1903, in 317 sheets, the government map of Turkey in 22 sheets, 1908–1910, the Russian Admiralty charts, and 22,660 sheets of the Egyptian survey, and the Japanes geological survey.

Although the Division of Maps has been able to collect much of the best material, the difficulty of ascertaining what has been published, and the delay in transportation have been serious limitations to the development of the collection. Important official maps are, of course, apt to be held confidential and will not be procurable till the war is over.

In 1904 a paper was compiled in this division entitled: "Check list of large scale maps published by foreign governments (Great Britain excepted)" but the collection has been increased since then by many additional items. This may be consulted by the student should earlier maps not included in this list be desired. The following publications are of interest:

EUROPEAN WAR MAPS.

[In American (The) geographical society. The Geographical review. July, 1917. 8°. New York, 1917. v. 4, pp. 51–54]

STANFORD, EDWARD.

Atlas of the chinese empire containing separate maps of the eighteen provinces of China proper . . . and of the four great dependencies . . . together with an index to all the names on the maps and a list of all protestant mission stations. Specially prepared . . . for the China inland mission. xii, 16 pp., 22 (i. e. 23) maps. fol. London, Morgan & Scott, ltd., [1908] 649

NOTE.—Preface dated 1908.
"In view of the fact that 1907 would be the centenary of protestant missionary efforts in China, it was decided by the China inland mission, toward the close of 1905, to publish a new atlas of the chinese empire, this atlas to be accompanied by a book giving a geographical, historical and missionary survey of each province and dependency of that empire. Through unexpected delays it was, however, found impossible . . . to have the maps ready in time, so the book entitled 'The Chinese empire' [edited by Marshall Broomhall; published by the China inland mission and Morgan & Scott, ltd.] was published first." Cf. Preface.
